SENATOR STEKETEE.

George G. Steketee will undoubtedly be elected to the state senate. His nomination by the republicans of the sixteenth senatorial district is a sincere compliment to the mercantile interests of the city and a fitting recognition of labor.

Mr. Steketee was elected mayor in 1881, and discharged the duties of the office in a manner eminently satisfactory to the taxpayers and creditable to himself. Previous to his election to the mayoralty he had served two terms as alderman from the third ward. It is generally conceded that the third ward never has had an alderman his superior in activity, honesty and efficiency.

He has been in active mercantile life in this city for many years. In close contact with the people he has acquired by attrition a knowledge of their wants which abundantly equips him for any duty requiring the exercise of discernment, and unfailing decision of character.

He is immensely popular with all classes, but particularly so with the workmen. He will have the support of every man that desires to have every interest of Grand Rapids guarded in the legislature with unceasing vigilance. On and after November 8, George G. Steketee will be familiarly addressed as Senator Steketee.

IT'S QUITE RIGHT.

What a shame it is that the great hulking policemen should be driven from the card table to the bookshelf! When fatigued with a night's unintermitted slumber on a dry goods box, there is nothing in the world more refreshing to a "copper" than to fill up his pipe and sit at a game of penny ante until breakfast time. There's so little of rest and comfort for the overworked bluecoat that this indulgence has been regarded as an oasis in the otherwise dreary desert of daily discipline. But it's to be denied to them now. Instead of studying over the relative value of "straights" and "flushes," the guardian of our dark alleys will hereafter be found pouring over the pages of Cooley and Blackstone.

No more will the fascinating clink of poker chips, secured in a raid on a luckless gambling joint, tickle the air of police headquarters. No more will the seductive charms of "pitch," "crib" and "poker" steal away the itching nickels from one fascinated devotee to swell the purse of another. Card playing, whether for fun or figures, must be stopped. Police headquarters is not the Monte Carlo of Grand Rapids. Policemen must be protected from the alluring vice. Therefore games are prohibited. It is well. Yes, it is better. For how embarrassing it might be for one of the men to get up and leave a "jackpot," with an "opener" in his good right hand, to follow one of the gallant chief officers in a raid on a gambling joint! Possibly some of the men will say: "Oh, we only play for fun"—but that is what the gamblers are always doing when pinched. It don't go.

ONE BY ONE.
One by one the stool pigeons, on the people's party ticket are scurrying to the door in the democratic fold. The state ticket is a practical nonentity and is held together as a bugle to frighten the democratic rainbow pursuers into a division of plunder, and when it is secured, being will probably retire leaving the field to Morse.

In this congressional district a fusion was consummated through the agency of Kille, the Iowa dough-faced statesman. He pulled the string and every people's party jumping jack responded. The outcome of the convention was known in advance for the delegates were men in the hands of the numerous tricksters who controlled it.

In the state convention at Lansing, twenty men assembled to nominate a middle-of-the-road candidate for justice of the supreme court. Kille was there and the twenty men put their noses to the grindstone and their names in their books and nominated a rampanc democrat whose only sign of sympathy with people's party principles is his supreme contempt for the Omaha platform.

The very latest thing is the retirement of Mr. Young in the interest of McQueen. Mr. Young dies hard. He is forced to retire, but gives no reasons. He wanted to stay, but the leaders had sold the place and he had to move out. McQueen will profit little by Young's somewhat out the back window. Such deals are too transparent to deceive.

Republicans must face the fact that the people's party has been merged into the democratic party. A few candidates are left as decoys, but the real fight is against the democracy reinforced at every point by populists. We must rally in the center.

CHILDREN OF FREE TRADE.

There are a few democratic papers candid enough to admit that the tariff on bituminous coal has nothing to do with the advance in price on anthracite coal, but they are not published in Grand Rapids.

The Jackson Patriot, one of the most ably edited democratic papers in the country, discusses the question in a dignified and logical manner. It attempts to show, and shows it, that the price of coal has been advanced by the coal barons for the purpose of extorting greatly increased profits from the consumer. This is concededly the truth; but the Patriot, without claiming that the specific duty on bituminous coal exercises any influence whatever in establishing the price of anthracite, contends as an abstract principle that trusts, monopolies and combines are the creatures of a protective policy and are nurtured by it.

If combines, trusts and monopolies were peculiar to America only, there might be a grain of fairness in this distinction. Or if these gigantic concerns were the products of late commercial opportunities it might have weight. But combinations of capital in the form of trusts and monopolies are "coeval with the existence of man." Social and political power has been so many times centralized in the hands of the few—plutocrats and aristocrats—that no instances need be cited to prove this statement. Moreover the very cradle of landlordism, monopoly and capitalistic oppression is England the paradise of free trade. The giant trusts, or syndicates, that reach out and throttle competition in this country today are conceived and capitalized in free trade England. It is a remarkable fact that the coal and sugar trusts, the most oppressive of all, were formed to control the production and sale of two articles of consumption that are on the free list. It therefore follows that monopoly is not the offspring of protection but the creature of free trade and the free list.

Just as the democrats had settled down to a warm spell of harmony the Tammany tiger pierces the silence with a shriek for office and there's a terrible hubbub in the family. Bourke Cockran, whose eyes are too sore to permit him to speak for Grover, is in the thickest of the fight, while Grover has thrown himself into the maw of the beast to save himself from worse disaster. New York will go democratic with a vengeance.

Just now the city of Buffalo is receiving the attention of the artistic real estate dealer. The real estate men will hold a national convention there October 4 to 7, and already the advantages of the Queen city of the lakes are being pictured and printed and posted in every X-roads postoffice in the country.

BETWEEN a vivid imagination and matter generously borrowed from other papers without giving credit, the sporting editor of a pretentious morning contemporary seems to have acquired wonderful facility in supplying original news matter to his paper.

ONE of the best independently republican newspapers printed in the west is the Rocky Mountain News, published at Denver. Its chief merit is in its sterling fearlessness. It has no quarter for the political shyster in or out of its own party.

CHARMING streets, clean sidewalks, neat architecture and fresh paint make a town and city look inviting to strangers and visitors. Let the city of Grand Rapids remember this and see that the same is complied with. It will help us.

It must be admitted that the Terre Haute track is the fastest in the world, although the honor has been strenuously claimed for the North Park track. The honor is yielded with as much grace as possible.

There is something very significant in the active enthusiasm manifested by the Hollanders in organizing republican clubs. The Tenth ward club, organized last night, is on a sure foundation.

If the versatile tin-plate liars of the local democratic organs will interview Mr. Mowat they will learn that there is a life-sized tin-plate mill at Conneaut, Ohio, United States of America.

Can any person, democrat or republican, tell where and when the democratic party, as a party, ever organized a single act that benefited the laboring class or the nation at large?

Now that John McQueen has finally been taken out of the cold by the people's party, there is hope for a few others who are hanging on to the ragged edge of deferred hope.

WATERLOO street's toughs seem to have taken possession of that part of the city. Clean them out!

HELD UP BY THUGS

Dr. Baker of Hopkins Knocked Down

BY WATERLOO STREET TOUGHS
After Pounding and Bruising Him, They Threaten to Arrest Him Unless Paid $10.—He Paid.

Dr. George Baker of Hopkins Station, Allegan county, was knocked down by thugs on Waterloo street near the Barnard house last night about 10 o'clock. He was being pounded and shamefully maltreated. Baker was passing along Canal street when he met a man with whom he engaged in conversation. The stranger learned that the doctor had started for the Lake Shore depot on the west side to take a train for his home at Hopkins and told him he was going to the same place and would walk along with him. The stranger led the way and took Baker down Waterloo street. When they had reached a vacant lot near Fulton street bridge, the doctor was knocked down and three or four men immediately appeared on the scene. One of the new arrivals grabbed the doctor by the arms and ordered the other fellows to keep back, saying he was an officer and would arrest him. The doctor inquired his authority for making the arrest, as he had no uniform nor badge. The impersonator replied that he was a detective and needed no such evidence of his authority. One of the fellows who committed the assault said they would settle with the doctor for $10. Baker was willing to do this and paid the money and told them to get on. The men then turned and walked away. The doctor was arrested on suspicion of being one of the parties to the robbery. He confessed the charge.

THROWN FROM A CAR.

James Brooks Severely Injured Last Night.

James Brooks, a man 65 years old, living at No. 219 Hastings street, was seriously injured last evening at 6:30 by jumping from a moving street car opposite No. 188 East Bridge street. He fell on his face and sustained several ugly contusions, from which the blood flowed quite freely. The car was stopped as soon as possible after the accident, and the old gentleman was assisted to his feet and cared for by friends until his son arrived, who took him to his home. Passing who witnessed the accident say that Brooks rang the bell and before the car arrived at the street crossing he jumped to the ground and was thrown down with violence. The car was run by Conductor W. S. Winters and Motorman J. C. Watson.

CONNEAUT TIN PLATE.

John Mowat Visits the Factory and Sees the Industry.

John Mowat of No. 334 Cherry street returned yesterday from Northern Ohio where he has been on business. While in Conneaut he visited the office of the Conneaut tin plate factory. Mr. Mowat said last night that he would like to have had some of his democratic friends in Grand Rapids along with him that he might have shown them a factory where as good tin plate is made as any in the world. He says the building covers an area of about 50x100 feet and employed a large number of men. He was shown some excellent samples of the products of the plant. The fact was shown that the tin plate is made by the McKinley bill went into effect.

Park Church Missions.

The annual thank-offering meeting of the Women's Missionary society of the Park Congregational church was held yesterday afternoon at the church. The three departments of the society, the Woman's Home Missionary society, the Woman's Foreign Missionary society, and the Young Women's Missionary society, were all well represented. Representatives of each society gave the encouraging features of the work in their departments. The money given will be divided among the departments, to be used in their respective works.

Reed's Lake Improvement.

The first thing that will be done to improve the lake will be to be made at Reed's lake will be the building of an ice house by the Consolidated Street Railway company. The building will be placed on the west line of the company's property. Sketches of the new pavilion have also been received from the architect who is making the plans for the building. The plan is not large enough and new sketches were ordered.

Dependent Odd Fellows.

The general relief committee of the order of Odd Fellows in the city held a meeting yesterday afternoon and discussed matters relative to the department. There are several persons, strangers in the city, who have been unfortunate, and whom the committee are looking after.

Harvest Song Festival.

One week from Sunday night's harvest song festival will be given at Trinity church by the surprised choir. The church will be decorated with fruits and vegetables, which will afterwards be donated to the various hospitals. Pastor Johnson has his whole making elaborate preparations for the festival.

Teachers' Association.

A meeting of the Grand Rapids District Teachers' association will be held in the chapel hall of the Western Michigan college at 10 a. m. today. At 3 o'clock in the afternoon Miss Elmer Caddieback will talk to the association on the kindergarten in the public schools.

Good Templar Band.

John Helsen, leader of the Good Templar band, was in the city yesterday conferring with Albert Bodgen, grand secretary, with reference to temperance work. The band is holding meetings at Vermontville this week. It will move to Nashville next week.

Smashed a Milk Wagon.

An electric car collided with Tom Gray's milk wagon yesterday morning at the corner of Waterloo and Monroe streets, smashing a front wheel of the wagon. The milk cans were thrown out and the lactated fluid was scattered over the pavement.

Biographical Sketches.

Biographical sketches of the late Hon. E. G. Eggleston and Judge Isaac M. Parish will appear in the October issue of the Michigan Law Journal. The former has been written by George H. White and the latter by Judge Nathan Hatch.

Internal Revenue Receipts.

The collections at the internal revenue

one office for the month of September were derived from the following sources: Beer, $7,034.71; cigar stamps, $9,097.50; tobacco, $89.23; special taxes, $89.28; fines and penalties, $49.58, total, $14,161.62.

NEGLECTED TO FILE.

Many Local Firms Have Ignored the Law.

County Clerk Harvey received yesterday from the secretary of state a list of Grand Rapids corporations that have not made a report of their financial condition for the fiscal year ending January 1, 1892, pursuant to the provisions of the law. The penalty for refusing or neglecting to file such report is $50 per day for each day after the first of March in each year during the pendency of such neglect or refusal. The list of delinquents will be reported to the board of supervisors and the board is required to proceed to collect the penalty according to law. The following are the names of the delinquents: Crescent Cabinet company, Cobb Metal company, Carbonative Hard Finish company, Clark & Scudder Lumber company, Diamond Wall Finish company, C. A. Soule Drug company, Daniels' Artificial Stone company, American Mortar company, American Gray concrete company, American Knitting mill company, N. A. Lumber company, Peninsular Electric company, Michigan Furniture company, Favorite Carpet Sweeper company, Ford Furniture company, Hogle Oil company, Hosken Pharmaceutical company, Honduras Tropic Fruit company, Hovey Manufacturing company, Grand Rapids Cigar company, Grand Rapids Cigar company, Grand Rapids Medicine company, Grand Rapids Cabinet company, Grand Rapids Fire Escape company, Grand Rapids Folding Bed company, Grand Rapids Furniture company, Grand Rapids Soap company, Grand Rapids Brick and Tile company, Grand Rapids Carriage Bow company, Grand Rapids Bending works, Novelty Furniture company, McCord & Bradford Furniture company, Michigan Glass company, Michigan Fire Ladder and Truck company, Johnston Plating Mill company, Seed Sower Manufacturing company, Union Stove and Chair company, Eureka Car Coupler company, Eagle Manufacturing company, Tracy Manufacturing company, Sheppard Manufacturing company, Star Manufacturing company, Standard Medicine company, Suckley Bros. company, Elliott Button Fastener company, Sears Typo-Matrix company, Kent Co-operative Mercantile company, Demham & Chick Furniture company.

WEALTHY AVENUE BRIDGE.

The Board Believes It Should Be Built Without a Draw.

The board of public works held a session yesterday afternoon for the purpose of visiting certain street improvements and other public works, with a view of accepting the jobs. Before starting out the board considered a map of the Wealthy avenue bridge and some of the members were of the opinion that the bridge should be built at right angles to the course of the stream, instead of crossing on the line of Wealthy avenue. It was also thought best to build without a draw. Superintendent Davis submitted samples of brick used in sewer construction, to show the difference in quality. The members were unanimous in the belief that the brick made by the Consolidated company were worth more than the brick made by any other company. The board decided some time ago to pay 75 cents per thousand more for the Consolidated company's brick than for any other kind of brick made in this city.

Amusements.

"Lost in New York," which has proved to be popular and profitable at the Grand this week, will be given this afternoon and evening for the last time.

There is a large advance sale of seats for "The Fast Mail," which opens at the Grand tomorrow night for a week.

Matinee at Smith's today. New comedies and new specialties next week.

John Philip Sousa, the eminent impresario, drew literally upon the talent of the country when the new marine band was organized. He had the privilege of selecting from several hundred of the best musicians and the result is what might be predicted. The new organization is matches in point of numbers and in excellence, and a concert by the marine band is a treat not to be missed. It will come here for one grand concert, Sunday evening, October 9, at Hartman's hall.

THE SUNDAY HERALD. Must have copy by Saturday noon.

World's Fair Matters.

Grand Rapids will furnish two rooms in the Michigan World's fair building. Saginaw and Muskegon will each furnish one also.

Mrs. M. J. Smiley who is at the head of the committee in this city for furnishing the two rooms is making good progress in securing promises of furniture, carpets, draperies and bric-a-brac.

The cost of furnishing the two rooms will amount to $10,000 including the cost of the goods used. Muskegon has not as yet done anything toward furnishing its room. Saginaw is very much interested in the work and has already sent an amount to Chicago to look after the grounds and prepare plans. Between forty and fifty tons of plaster will be furnished free of charge by the Alabastine company for the plastering of the inside walls of the building. The manufacturing companies of the state are willing to contribute liberally.

Noon today is the latest hour that copy for "Nickel Ads" can be received.

Kalamazoo County Fair.

Kalamazoo, Sept. 30.—The County Agricultural society has had two prime days for the fair. Yesterday a large crowd, probably not far from 5,000 people were on the fair grounds. They were there but many wandered after they arrived why they were there. The entries were about 2,000 or one-third less than one year ago besides the trades and displays were anything but satisfactory. They failed to adequately represent more than three or four branches of trade or business.

ARRANGEMENTS FOR STATE TROOPS.
Adjutant General Farrar of the Michigan state troops is in Chicago making arrangements for the reception of the troops from this state who will attend the dedication of the fair, next month. Captain Kramer of Company B has received a letter from him stating that he will endeavor to secure accommodations for the Grand Rapids Guard and expressing belief that he will succeed. Captain Kramer is confident of taking forty men, should satisfactory arrangements be made.

Motor Man Fainted.

Yesterday as an electric car on the South Division street line was descending the hill just south of Hall street, it struck a valuable Jersey cow, belonging to the Hon. John C. Carter, and knocked it down. The motor man was more frightened than the cow was hurt. He immediately fainted. The cow received several bruises, a black eye and a general shaking up. Both will recover.

SAYS IT'S NOT TRUE

Mr. Leathers Denies the Statement That

STARR HAS LEFT SALISBURY

Monbars Will Probably Be Entered in the 3-Year-Old $10,000 Representative Stake at Lexington Next Week.

Don J. Leathers emphatically denies the report published in yesterday's Democrat to the effect that George Starr has thrown up his contract with Monroe Salisbury and would handle Mr. Leathers' string. "There is absolutely no truth in the report," said Mr. Leathers to a reporter for THE HERALD yesterday. "I don't see why the Democrat should have published it. I asked the reporter about it today and he admitted that the statement was manufactured. Such things have a tendency to make it very unpleasant for Mr. Salisbury and Mr. Starr. George Starr is under contract with Mr. Salisbury and will remain with him until the first of January, unless they agree to discontinue their relations when the racing season closes. There are several horses in the Salisbury string that are there only on condition that Mr. Starr will have them. Among them are Monbars, Flying Jib, San Pedro and Little Albert."

Speaking of Monbars, Mr. Leathers said: "Yes, the little fellow made a great mile. He now has the world's championship in the 3-year-old class. If he can hold it he's all right. We are thinking seriously of entering him in the 3-year-old $10,000 representative stake at Lexington next week. Arion is entered in the same stake and so are several other flyers. If we were sure that Monbars was strong enough to start in a race like that without running any risk of injuring himself, we should not hesitate to start him; but he has been out of condition so long this year that we don't know whether he has strength enough to stay in a hot race or not. If we don't enter him there we shall probably send him to the track between the Columbia or Nashville tracks before the season is over. I am confident that he can do 2:10 or better. I haven't the slightest doubt that he could have done 2:11 easily at Terre Haute the other day."

The words made on that Terra Haute track confirm what I have always believed to be true in regard to working a track. No matter how good a track you have you must work it almost every minute if you wish to keep it in condition for fast time. At Terra Haute the other day they had seven teams working the track between the heats. They would put the floats to work the instant the trotters stopped, and trot them around the track. The result was that their track was in almost perfect condition."

Mr. Leathers thinks Nancy Hanks can go better than that and that some of the boys will lower that record before the present season closes; but he does not believe that Nancy Hanks or any other horse now on the track can go in two minutes.

That Deadly Baby Carriage.

A well dressed man stood in front of the Morton yesterday chatting with a friend. He wore a pair of patent leathers that were as bright and glittering as Don M. Dickinson's political hopes. The man was proud of the patent leathers and was showing them to his friend. He did not know that pride goeth before a fall and at that moment a nemesis was "dead after" him. In less than three minutes a woman came along wheeling a baby carriage. There were four cherubs in it. There might have been more if the family but those were all she had on that parade. She tripped gleefully down the street and persons that failed to get out of the way were thumped on the shins by the wheels of the baby carriage. After knocking three men aside she made a straight away dash for the wall dressed man and his patent leathers. The wheel of the cab caught him squarely on the side of his foot and the sharp tire tore a jagged hole in the glistening shoes. But the woman didn't mind it. She never even looked behind, and the man with the patent leathers and his friend who were followed by five exclamations points and a very sharp sting.

Gavett for Congress.

"It looks as if Captain Gavett would secure the republican nomination for congress in the first district of Michigan H. Hughes of Detroit, editor of the Michigan Catholic, who was a guest at Sweet's yesterday. "Gavett is making a strong run for the nomination, and it looks now as if he would be successful. It is doubtful if the republicans of the first district could nominate a stronger man. He is a very popular, a genial, whole-souled fellow, and would poll an immense vote. Of course the election of a republican congressman in the first district is extremely doubtful. The district was cut out to send a democrat to congress and it's uphill work trying to mow down opposition. Chipman has a strong pull with the party, and of course can make a great run; but if Gavett is nominated he will give the old man a lively race. Detroit is now the worst looking city I ever saw. Its streets are all torn up and its in worse condition than Grand Rapids was last year. They say that when we get our new pavement laid we shall have very pretty streets; but the outlook now isn't much brighter than the one for rapid transit."

IS HERE FROM ROME

The Very Rev. Dr. Kenna of St. Patrick's Church

IS A GUEST OF BISHOP RICHTER

Dr. Kenna is in the City to Solicit Funds to Aid in the Completion of St. Patrick's Church.

The Very Rev. Dr. Kenna, O. S. A., of St. Patrick's church, Rome, Italy, is in the city, the guest of Bishop Richter. He is deputed to visit this country for the purpose of soliciting subscriptions to help in the erection of the Basilica of St. Patrick, the Irish national church in Rome, now in course of construction on the grounds of the beautiful Villa Ludovisi, in that ancient and historic city. This church is being built by the Irish people as a compliment to Ireland and an offering to their patron saint, Patrick.

The corner stone of the church was laid and blessed according to the rites of the church on February 1, 1888, the feast of St. Brigid, the "Mary of Ireland." The Archbishop of Dublin, Dr. Walsh, blessed the stone and His Grace, the Most Rev. P. J. Ryan, archbishop of Philadelphia, preached the sermon. The site of the church is in the very center of that new and growing section of Rome, which was known in the early days as the Gardens of Salustia and which has always been a historic and favorite site in Rome.

Style of the New Building.

The style of the new building is a mixture of Gothic and Roman. Stone steps, seven in number, running the entire width of the church, form an entrance to the Irish national monument, which is ninety-five feet wide and 300 feet deep. A splendid campanile rising 150 feet the air graces the rear of the church and on the front is a mosaic representation of the Trinity. A little below, running the whole width of the church, are nine niches containing heroic size statues of St. Patrick, St. Brigid, St. Laurence O'Toole, St. Columba, St. Dymphna, St. Columba, St. Cormac, St. Ita and St. Kieran. Many other statues and exquisite mosaics adorn the church. The cathedral, when completed interiorly, will tell in splendid marble and fretted gold the story of Ireland's century of martyrdom on mural pages, which will last as long as the world itself shall last.

The work on the building is being rapidly pushed and hopes are entertained that it may be ready for dedication and divine services during the proceedings connected with the celebration of the Episcopal jubilee at Leo XIII. Under such circumstances the church would become Ireland's jubilee gift to the Sovereign Pontiff. Father Kenna will call upon the Irish Catholic citizens during the coming week and he expects a cordial welcome and a liberal response from them.
